TAX RATE IN TAKE RATE IN TAXES LIKELY AT 53 MILLS

Edmonton's tax rate this year will likely be 52 or 53 mills.

Mayor Joseph A. Clarke's plan for a two-year suspension of sinking fund payments will not be put into effect in 1935.

Estimated expenditure of $500,000 on direct relief likely to be capitalized through the issue of 10-year debentures.

These are the highlights of a special meeting of city council called Saturday for consideration of the 1935 budget.

Two methods of reducing the millage this year were presented to council: Either sinking fund payments could be suspended, or the city could issue $500,000 of debentures to be capitalized on short term debentures. Aldermen favored the latter course.

It is also expected that council will not include in the levy this year an annual payment of $14,000 to retire a $500,000 loan received prior to 1924 and made necessary through failure to receive 100 per cent of the taxes in the early twenties. Commissioner David Mitchell believed that payment of arrears would be sufficient to meet the required amount without levying for it.

Those voting for the mayor's suspension plan were Aldermen A. Stuart, J. T. McCreath, Macleod, Charles Campbell, and the mayor himself. Those voting against it were Aldermen N. J. Bellamy, A. H. R. Fife, J. W. H. J. Macdonald, R. A. Brown, and W. F. Findlay. Ald. Jas. Kent was absent on account of illness.

Equalization of sinking fund payments over a 20-year period or the total or partial suspension of payments. Opening the discussion, Bellamy moved that council reject the latter plan.

Under the present bill they would become "state children" and there would be two separate families. We continued on Page 2, Col. 2

Advertising Is Salesmanship

Newspaper advertising is the front line of your selling force. The homes of the people and the pockets of the people are the best places to sell your goods and your services.

Charging that the present Alberta government was tied hand and foot to the "money changers" and to the present monetary system, and that it was prepared to buckle to the "money barons" regardless of the loss of homes and farms and the suffering of Alberta taxpayers, W. R. Howson, Liberal leader, in his budget debate speech today scored Premier Reid and his colleagues for their indefensible lack of action in the face of distress, charging them with weakness and vacillating, and declaring that the budget brought down by Hon. J. Russell Love proved only too conclusively that the government was moving to "more firmly weld the chains of money power slavery around the necks of the people of Alberta."

Congregations Leave At

Documents—Tension Follows.

DESLER, March 11.—Arrests, interference with church services and steps to ban the synod opposing the pro-government church regime formed a sharp Nazi move Sunday to the confessional synod's seceding indictment of the Nazi religious attitude.

Secret police in Pomerania issued a proclamation forbidding the reading of the document from pulpits.

A few minutes before services scheduled Sunday morning groups of plainclothes visited churches and confiscated copies of the declaration. Following police visits the congregations went home.

Similar police actions were taken in other Pomeranian communities, from which came reports of great tension and antagonism to the authorities.

Throughout Silesia, Nazi officials barred proceedings against confessional synods. It was reliably reported that authorities plan to ban the synod in all parts of German Silesia and started such action last night.

ENGLISH ARTIST VISITING CITY

That the art which he has seen in Canada is of a higher merit than that of the same class in England was the statement made by Brian Cook, English artist, who is in Canada under the sponsorship of the National Council of Education, who arrived in Edmonton Sunday night.

Mr. Cook, who is well known in England as an artist, has visited various points in the Dominion during his tour and is now travelling eastward.

Stating that he had seen examples of Canadian art both in Winnipeg, where he viewed paintings, and in Calgary, where he examined sketches, Mr. Cook expressed his admiration for the work shown, particularly the work of the latter, which he had seen in a sketching club.

On a commercial art, Mr. Cook stated that examples of this type of art which he had seen in Canada were of a high standard. He stated, however, that he was surprised at the small number of work that had been done in this line.

"There are not nearly as many commercial schools in this country as one would imagine," said Mr. Cook. He added that he considered advertising in magazines in this country far advanced than those in England, although he admitted that poster advertising was more attractive present in England.

On Men Suspected of Murder

BELLEFOUNTE, Pa., March 11.—Charged of suspicion in a year-old murder case, through use of a newly discovered "truth serum," two Belleville men were free today after the recommendation of district attorney Phillip Johnston.

Sergeant Edwin J. Strawn of the state police confirmed use of the "serum" and said he believed it was used for the first time in Pennsylvania when he questioned one of the suspects, William Eckel, 22, after Dr. Richard H. Hoffman, of the Centre County Hospital, applied the drug.

One-fifth of a grain of scopolamine—the drug used to produce "twilight sleep" in child-birth cases—was injected into the arm of Eckel, who had agreed to the experiment, slowly passed into the serum.

Sir Malcolm Refuses to Abandon Speed Trials

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 11.—Sir Malcolm Campbell refused the request of British friends and associates Sunday that he give up further speed trials on Daytona Beach, making clear at the same time that he never will be content until he has closed his list of 300 miles an hour.

The record of 258.6 miles an hour he made with the giant Bluebird land speeder on Thursday apparently means nothing to him.

One message from Lord Rothermere asked him to give up further attempts "because of the calamitous risks involved" and threatened him to rest on his laurels.

Campbell answered that he appreciated their feelings, "but I have set myself a task."

He was now were rolling in on the sand dunes, hardening the racing surface, but the wind was soft gusts and ripples along the dunes. "A favorable shift in wind might work wonders overnight, however."

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., March 11.—Shooting connected by prosecution of martial law, trouble broke out near the John Morrell Packing Plant Sunday when company guards reported strikers had halted movement of 18 cars of meat by piling ties and rails on the tracks.

James C. Mann, chief of the company guards, said a group of 300 strikers including a dozen women had twice unscathed the locomotive and the train. "The strikers were in a line of battle and were firing at the train," he said.

Seven hundred union employees had quit the plant at five a.m. Sunday after national guard troops moved in and Major Eugene L. Foster proclaimed martial law.

The workers, protesting the action, threatened to dynamite the plant. They refused to leave the grounds until the plant was cleared of strikers. A train was held up for several hours. Major Foster rescinded military rule and the militia disbanded at the strike's end.

Long Ontario On Ontario Hydro

TORONTO, March 11.—The Ontario cabinet Saturday conferred for five and a half hours on the question of repudiating Quebec power contracts which have been made by the provincial government in the legislature during the past year.

Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn declined to state what decision, if any, had been reached.

Fifteen Barefoot Girls 'Dance Hymns' in Church

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 11.—Fifteen pretty girls of Christian College—alma mater of fan dancer Sally Rand—presented dancing instruction of hymns before a congregation of 300 persons at the first service of the church last night.

"These dances are a sincere form of worship," said Allan Lemmon, former Christian student, a daughter of the pastor, Dr. C. E. Lemmon, "no please don't applaud."

The dances were solemn-faced and nervous as they made their first appearance before elders, deacons and University of Missouri students. The audience went away apparently pleased.

THE PENSION AGE

The members of the legislature were unanimous in declaring the qualifying age for old age pensions should be reduced from seventy years to sixty years. It was stated that a man who went through the hardships of service "over there."

The increased cost is estimated to run from $100,000 to $150,000 a year. As the Dominion provides three-quarters of the money, and it is not the remote future have to supply all of it, the decision in this case, which the conditions must rest with the federal authority.

Any changes made will of course have to apply to all provinces. As the Dominion provides three-quarters of the money, and it is not the remote future have to supply all of it, the decision in this case, which the conditions must rest with the federal authority.

The legislature has done well to bring the matter directly to attention, and if the legislature of other provinces take similar action it is possible the age reduction will be granted through there has been no indication of any such intention as yet at Ottawa.

WORK-FOR-AGES

The city council of Calgary is investigating a plan to replace the dole with a work-for-ages policy. The idea is to get the scheme going by the first of April.

Under the proposed arrangements the unemployed resident could work on a civic project at regular rates of pay until he had earned an amount equal to the dole he would receive for a week or a month. Then his period of employment would end. He would be free to search for work elsewhere, and if he could not find it, if not, he could return to the city job to earn his quota for the next week or month.

The idea is not new. Proposals along the same line have often been made in the past. Some public improvements have been carried out by that method, apparently in an efficient and satisfactory manner. No very serious reasons have ever been forthcoming as to why it could not be employed on a wider scale, and relief-work thus made to take the place of direct relief.

The advantages of course are that the man concerned would earn his money, instead of getting it under the dole system, and that charity, while the taxpayers would get value in needed improvements for an outlay that has to be made in any case.

TWO CHOICES

Here is something to take your mind off your own troubles.

"London, March 10.—Representatives of Canada, United States, Australia and Argentina today definitely abandoned negotiations for the control of wheat exports for the remainder of the present crop year. It was indicated that none of the restrictions of the pact would be enforced by any of the 21 signatory nations heretofore, and unless some change develops the pact will be allowed to expire."

Meaning that the wheat agreement which died last year, has finally attained respiratory operations and is now really dead. The note of finality is appropriately sounded in subdued tones. One can almost hear the mean of the note. The Argentine as fearfully admits the demise of the wheat scheme whereby the Canadian wheat-grower was to be kept from realizing what had been done to him.

Argentina just isn't having any restriction, either of production or export; that is why the agreement is defunct.

Ending of the post mortem proceedings leaves the Government of Canada with a choice of two courses. It can revise its prohibitory tariff downward and permit other countries to buy Canadian wheat and pay for it with their products. Or it can buy up the wheat crop of 1934 and store it, as it did the wheat crop of 1934.

IS IT TIME TO CHIEF?

Secretary Wallace of the United States department of agriculture has said that the dry cycle has run its course, or at least passed the peak of aridity. He says the chances are "99 to 1" against last year's drought being repeated next summer in the central states.

If the prediction is right, and rain falls more generally in that area, it is reasonable to assume it will fall more liberally in the west. The dry area on the Canadian side of the border, permitting farmers there to reap a harvest for the first time in four consecutive years.

This is encouraging prophecy, or is it? We shall have to await the decision of H. H. Robert Weir, kingfish and high priest in the order of Canadian crop-cutters, and the plain inference is his decision will be that it is bad news for the country.

Mr. Weir is convinced our farmers are producing too much wheat, even with the dry belt out of action, particularly too much wheat and that the way to salvation lies through curtailment. If curtailment is the thing necessary or desirable, no more wheat can be produced than has yet been discovered than a thorough-going drought.

The Minister of agriculture, it is to be supposed, will be for more and more drastic action—the condition precedent to the re-establishment of the national economic structure—while something in a human way with the farm families whose circumstances forbid them to see a crop failure as anything but a crushing disaster.

An order in council has been passed at Ottawa for the survey of the trails between Edmonton and Stony Plain, Stony Edmonton and Battle River by way of Hay Lakes, and between Ft. Saskatchewan and Victoria.

A meeting of the Edmonton agricultural society was held in the town hall on Saturday. It was suggested that the four counties in the locality, Edmonton, Stony Edmonton, Ft. Saskatchewan and St. Albert, unite. It was decided to hold a spring show on Friday, April 19th.

Rev. Mr. E. B. Bull, of St. Paul's, will preach in All Saints' church on Wednesday evening.

London: Mukden has fallen, and immense stores of arms, ammunition and provisions, with great numbers of prisoners, are in the hands of the victorious Japanese.

St. Petersburg: Trouble is evidently brewing in the vicinity of the Japanese. Thousands of troops and munitions of war, and lately 50 military trains mostly carrying artillery, poured into Turkestan and made a demonstration against Afghanistan. A move against British India is expected.

The city council at last night's meeting decided to guarantee the exhibition association against loss on the summer fair to the amount of $5,000.

Ottawa: Third reading was given to a bill empowering the C.P.R. to separate its ocean steamship service from the parent company, the latter to guarantee the bonds of the former.

Washington: General Carranza has been informed by the government of the United States that unless there is an improvement in the treatment of foreigners and their property in the part of Mexico under his control steps will be taken to provide the necessary safeguards. The Pass: Three thousand men are wanted for construction work on the Hudson Bay railway.

TEN YEARS AGO

The government majority in the legislature voted down a motion proposed by all opposition groups to reduce commercial import duties and ministerial salaries.

Practically all British goods entering Canada are exempt from duty. As a result of Mr. Fielding's concession of a ten per cent reduction in the tariff on goods coming from Japan.

Halifax: Premier Armstrong has appealed to the citizens of Glace Bay to man the mines there and prevent them being flooded. The miners are on strike.

Poems That Live

THE HOUSE OF PAIN

Unto the Prison House of Pain none willingly repair—

The bravest who an entrance gain
Reluctant linger there—
For pleasure, passing by that door, stays not
To cheer the light.

The bravest who an entrance gain
Reluctant linger there—
For pleasure, passing by that door, stays not
To cheer the light.

Yet in the Prison House of Pain things full of beauty bloom—
Like Christmas roses, which attain
Their perfume to the nostrils of the Lone entering, in his mild warmth the darkest shadows melt.

And often, where the hush is deep, the swift
Of wings is felt.

Ah, melt the Prison House of Pain—what a world of beauty and of peace—
The lesson of a sublimer strain
Than any elsewhere taught;
And loneliness and gloom, pure mess-
ings gentle and of peace.

For no truly dwelling-place seems God
So strongly near!

—Florence Earle Coates.

Why should a common soldier be exposed to death, or to exposure and to suffering worse than death after death, for $1.10 a day, and a profiteer be permitted to make millions in war profits and preserve them in tax-free hands? Should the millions for whom this is this proposal not "valuable or vain," but in the event of another war, public sentiment in England and in the United States would insist upon an equality of sacrifice as between human lives and dollars, as far as it is possible to enforce something very precious and some thing that by comparison means very little.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Renunciation of Britain's policy of unilateral reduction of defences, and large increases voted in military and naval estimates under a pacifist premier, mark 1934 as a year of danger. It is danger not in one hemisphere but two. A war that breaks out in mid-Pacific and is fought on borders in middle Europe may fire a train that will envelop the world.

Here in western Canada the possibility of a clash on the Pacific concerns us closely. The fleets of United States and Japan are assembling for manoeuvres, while Britain is rehearsing the working properly of her fleet.

J. S. Cowper
France is seizing the Pescadores—midway between French Indo-China and the Philippines—over the protest of Japan. One doesn't have to be the son of a prophet to regard midsummer of 1935 with concern.

There are solid reasons for regarding 1935 as a year of fate on the Pacific. Japan will this year come nearer than ever to parity of naval strength with United States. In the special session of 1933, General Araki told the Japanese Council of War in words that have been repeated in all circles of thought.

"The situation in the Far East as I see it, has become so acute that only a spark is necessary to bring about the inevitable explosion. At any time a conflict may occur on serious conflicts in 1935-36. The only way to encounter these coming fateful events is to follow the slogan, 'Be armed to the teeth.'"

If Japan is armed to full strength she will be in a position to cross swords with any nation, and the political program which our country is following can successfully be carried out without threat of foreign interference.

Frequent espionage arrests are directed at "a certain nationality"—which is the polite Japanese way of referring to Americans. Nervous they are shown by the arrest of two University of California students in Hakodate and the arrest of a street car "possible to be used for military purposes." While English ships in Japan seem exempt from suspicion of espionage, the Japanese are mistrustful of Britain's neutrality and the American Navy. One of their writers points out that in her last four wars England always had the Japanese navy in her hands. They expect to take in two days and two weeks respectively in the event that Britain should enter the fray. That is why the Japanese are large sums to re-fortify Singapore and is rehearsing plans for defending in the air from naval attack.

Japan now underestimating the whole world in manufactured goods where cheap labor is an important factor—like a cutting cotton for 25 cents and shipping beer to Germany because German coins—has the strong force of reason and the power of the machine. People of the Christian nations take cum grano sali the story that we are all descended from an Adam and Eva who lived in a Garden with forbidden fruits, a serpent that walked on its tail and talked, and a God who would to stirl in the cool of the shade after the day's work and do not mind the day's events. But the Japanese have no doubt about their divine origin from the marriage of the gods Izanagi and Izanami, through Amaterasu, the sun-god and Susanoo, the god of force.

They are quite sure too that their royal family is of divine origin. The Emperor wears as his insignia of office a cutting cotton for 25 cents and shipping beer to Germany because German coins—has the strong force of reason and the power of the machine. The sword and mirror and pearls still have significance to these people. The sword is the emblem of ancient and modern concepts. Tetsuya Kametani head of the students' Fascist organization of Japan says that hardship and poverty in Japan are only temporary and that "there can be no social injustice in Japan under the sword, the mirror and the pearls of the Tenny's regalia. Tenny is the true name of the Japanese ruler, not Mikado, which latter was an invention of Gilbert and Sullivan and is unknown in Japan."

Says this representative of modern student culture "The Tenny's need only look into the mirror and see the distress of his people and it will be adjusted. The paper is a journal for social revolutions or liberal reforms."

The constitution of 1890 declares the Emperor to be sacred and inviolable, and to be unbroken for ages eternal. "Duality to the throne is more than a political offense; it is sacrilege. Hence the spirit which prompts a patriot to stab to death a journalist who is acted as manager for Babe Ruth's baseball tour in Japan."

The human eye must look down upon the Tenny. Blinds must be drawn when he goes forth. Workmen must descend from scaffolds. An ordinance preventing the use of more than eight stories in height in downtown Tokyo. Westerners think of it as an architectural law. Its true purpose is to prevent persons with the aid of binoculars from looking into the sacred grounds of the Imperial Palace.

We show our appreciation of royalty, when they are represented by a person who is their. The Prince of Wales is probably the most photographed young man in the British Empire. In Japan it is not possible to display him on the street in photograph or picture of the ruler or of any member of his family. When exhibited in picture stalls, the faces of royalty must be screened by paper curtains. They are still divine to the people of Japan. The nation of divine origin and fulfilling divine destiny. The people of Japan are so sure of this that they seek death in a clash of war whose hour may soon strike.

Self - Poisoning

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

Anyone suffering from auto-intoxication (self-poisoning) will have periods of great depression and tiredness. He will have a poor digestion, and unhealthy appearance of the skin, a coated tongue, a bad breath, headaches, and sometimes have attacks of "the blues." In many instances I have examined patients who had previously been through exhaustive tests and diagnostic procedures without any discoveries having been discovered. Upon further examination I have found that these patients are suffering from some perfectly defined toxic condition from a lack of proper elimination.

Some type of toxic poisoning is present in nearly every disease. To know that the cause is really self-poisoning. Intestinal toxemia is the main cause of skin trouble and one with acne, psoriasis, eczema, boils, etc., should begin to overcome poisoning in the intestinal tract as the first step toward a cure. Those who are continuously tired are suffering from self-poisoning. Rheumatism and arthritis are always accompanied by severe intestinal toxemia, which I believe precedes the actual infection, both or worse than the latter. Those who are always aggravated by nervous disorders from the intestinal tract. Often a urinalysis will show an excessive amount of uric acid, which means that auto-intoxication is present.

The body is continually absorbing food and discharging waste materials. When these waste products accumulate more rapidly than the eliminative organs can dispel them, a systemic toxemia must result.

If any one of the eliminative organs is not working properly it may cause a similar type of toxemia. For instance, if the liver is continually overworked manufacturing bile, it may have a well balanced menu of food which it ordinarily removes from the blood.

Auto-intoxication is also frequently brought about by the body to become overly tired so that it is not enough to overcome energy remaining to properly stimulate the organs of elimination.

Plenty of sleep is necessary to rebuild the strength of the nervous system, and it is advisable to use vigorous exercises, accompanied by deep breathing. The skin may be stimulated by rubbing the body with a coarse towel, which should be used twice daily and followed by vigorous friction rubs. An acid fruit of five days should be employed and followed by a well balanced menu of food. In my newspaper articles. When enemies of one group of plain water should be used morning and night for three months. This will help to prevent the absorption of additional toxins from the colon.

The success of the treatment depends on building the general health and vitality and the use of therapeutic measures to speed up the elimination through all of the excreting organs. When you desire an article on Auto-Intoxication, please send me a stamped and enclosed large, self-addressed envelope and a 3c stamp.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Adina asks: "What is Lemon-Milk and how is it prepared?"

ANSWER: Lemon-Milk is a kind of sour milk or substitute for buttermilk and is made by mixing the juice of one or more lemons with a pint of sweet milk and shaking vigorously together. Lemon-Milk is very easily digested and is especially good for the stomach. It may, however, be used as a meal itself or taken the same way as a milk diet, that is, a gradual every hour.

QUESTION: Mrs. K. H. asks: "Will you kindly state whether or not Melba toast contains starch and how the starch content compares with that of other breads?"

ANSWER: Melba toast is made from white bread toasted so thoroughly that all of the starch is converted into pure dextrin and, therefore, contains no starch. It is a very good food.

QUESTION: Mr. Ralph B. asks: "What is the best exercise to take to strengthen the arches of the feet?"

ANSWER: The best one I know of is to walk pigeon-toed part of the time; when you are taking your daily walk, try to walk about one third of the time slightly pigeon-toed, catching your weight on the big toe side of the ball of the foot.

SIDE GLANCES—By George Clark

On this date in 1942 the second Lafontaine, a Baldwin ministry took office in the province of Canada. At the time, the Minister of the Interior was Robert B. LaFontaine, a member of the Conservative Party. He was a member of the first cabinet of the Conservative Party, and was a member of the first cabinet of the Conservative Party. He was a member of the first cabinet of the Conservative Party, and was a member of the first cabinet of the Conservative Party.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

In less than five years Lafontaine and Baldwin were back in the saddle, but this time under a sympathetic governor general, the Earl of Riga, the first constitutional governor, was at heart a Conservative. He saw the folly of ruling changes, but once his mind was made up for the need of reform, he went ahead, as did the Earl of Riga, the first constitutional governor, was at heart a Conservative. He saw the folly of ruling changes, but once his mind was made up for the need of reform, he went ahead, as did the Earl of Riga, the first constitutional governor, was at heart a Conservative.

His second ministry lasted only three years but he made numerous reforms that were made and were clearly evident that there could be no return to the old system of irresponsible government.

Both Lafontaine and Baldwin had the same aim, to make the government more responsible to the people. Lafontaine was a member of the first cabinet of the Conservative Party, and was a member of the first cabinet of the Conservative Party.

DEPRECIATION OF CANADA DOLLAR IS RECOVERY IDEA

SHERBROOKE, Que. March 11.—Depreciation of the Canadian dollar to the level of the Australian pound in relation to sterling was urged as the best method of restoring a measure of prosperity to Canadian agriculture, by T. E. McDonald, Liberal member of parliament for Sherbrooke, Sask., speaking at a Liberal meeting here Saturday.

Duties on instruments of production, he said, must be removed so that the cost to the Canadian farmer would be reduced to the level where he could hope to compete on world markets. Unless this action was taken, he said, Canada would rapidly become a great rural slum due to inability of the farmer to make a living.

The western member was critical of the back-to-the-land movement without first having restoration of duties on farming implements. Profitable farming was the best incentive to returning to the land, in his opinion.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

AT LAST we know where to place the credit for Marlene Dietrich's success—upon an ordinary longshoreman. And Joseph Sternberg has been taking the bows all this time.

The story about the longshoreman...

USING HER OWN NAME, the LITTLE JANE WONG, SCALLY BLAME WAS A POPULAR ACTRESS AT THE AGE OF 5.

THE WIDEN member was critical of the back-to-the-land movement without first having restoration of duties on farming implements. Profitable farming was the best incentive to returning to the land, in his opinion.

Nearly 100,000 miles of pipe-lines carry oil to every section of the United States.

Victor Schertzinger

IS CREDITED WITH HAVING COMPOSED THE MOST FAMOUS MUSICAL SCORE FOR THOMAS HUNTER'S "CIVILIZATION" IN 1914.

must be true, however, because Marlene herself told it the other day between scenes of her new picture, "Caprice Espagnole."

"I was working with about 40 other extras in a noisy scene in the UFA studio in Berlin," related Marlene. "Suddenly an assistant director shoved a longshoreman into my hand and commanded me to act like a young duchess."

The longshoreman attracted the director's attention and he focused the camera on it. The next day, when he looked at the film, the director decided he liked my face and with bewildering suddenness I was given a contract."

CROWDED OUT

Cent B. De Mille has had to move his office. When he decided to make "The Crusades," he sent abroad for some books, pictures, and relics to aid him in keeping the picture accurate.

APPELLATE COURT DOCKET HAS SIX HEARINGS SET

SIX cases are on the list of the March sittings of the appellate division of the supreme court of Alberta which opens in the court house today. The order in which the cases will be heard was decided by Chief Justice Horace Harvey, who presided at an appeal court chambers on Saturday.

First on the list is the criminal appeal of the King versus Kuryk, the only criminal appeal on the list. Second on the list is the case of Kuryk versus Bothe at third; it is a civil case with regard to an appeal against arbitration in the settlement of a land deal, Purgason versus Lindseth.

Yanish versus Buchak is fourth; fifth is Barendson versus Potvin, and sixth is Litzensberger versus Litzensberger.

Judgment reserved by Mr. Justice C. R. Munro in supreme court on Saturday morning, at the conclusion of the case brought by W. C. Perry, of Saskatoon, against Burns and Company Limited to recover the purchase price of a steam engine and boiler now alleged to be in the custody of the company.

De Maclean, K.C., is for the company, and S. A. Dickson, K.C., for the plaintiff.

Perry claims that the engine and boiler were bought by the company from a Saskatoon dealer named Best some six years ago. The dealer—Perry—did not know where the boiler and engine were, had had been given away by the company. The company maintains that the outfit was fully paid for at the time the engine and boiler were bought.

Disabled Vets To Reorganize

Acting under instructions received from the Provincial Command of the National and British Disabled Veterans, President S. S. Bowcott is commencing a reorganization of the Edmonton branch whose headquarters are in the Bery Hall, 908 Jasper street.

Trustees to be appointed by the Provincial Command are S. S. Bowcott, H. Horrocks and S. T. Flynn.

An invitation to join is extended to all past members and all disabled veterans. Upon joining prospective members will be requested to produce their discharge papers or pension papers to show their disability, as in the future this will be a bona-fide disabled veterans organization acting under the charter and constitution of the provincial command.

Association members will also be invited to join but will have no vote or voice in the affairs of the association. Such members will be required to produce their discharge papers as evidence of having served in His Majesty's Forces.

The aim and object of the association will be to make itself self-sufficient, to assist its members when able, and to further the interests of ex-service men in general.

The only Ladies' Auxiliary recognized by this branch is the one known as the National and British Empire Disabled Veterans' Ladies' Auxiliary. Officers of this auxiliary at the present time are Mrs. W. Wilson, president; Mrs. M. Clarke, secretary; and Mrs. M. Smith, treasurer.

City Protesters Cut In Payment

Formal protest will be made to the provincial government by the city in connection with the proposed payment to the city of $30,000 for 1935 in lieu of the service tax, as compared to the payment of $40,000 in 1934. A requisition of protest was passed at the special meeting of city council, Saturday.

City Protesters Cut In Payment

In a report which will be dealt with by council Monday night, representatives have already been made by His Worship the Mayor in association with the mayor of other cities to the provincial government on the subject of continuing at least the same grant as last year but the government has refused to do so. The view that had the service tax continued to be levied by the city, the returns from this source would have been seriously diminished.

Treasurer To Serve Eight Jail Terms

PURCHASER ALBERT SARK, former secretary-treasurer of Shellbrook rural municipality, Saturday was sentenced to three months in jail on each of eight charges of embezzlement, sentences to run concurrently. Sark pleaded guilty last week. He completed restitution last November of the funds, approximately $1,900.

WORKER ISSUE DISCUSSED AT FORUM MEET

Prof. H. Poole is Speaker
At Sunday Night Gathering

Although price fluctuations must be accepted as an important factor in industrial unrest, labor problems cannot be reduced to the terms of an unstable currency, was the statement made by Professor H. Poole, University of Alberta, during an address, "The Worker in Modern Society", given at the Edmonton Forum, Sunday night.

Continuing Mr. Poole stated that the workers were becoming more articulate in their demands for greater measure of self expression in work, a share in the ownership and control of the workshops and a larger participation in the production of goods and services. Mr. Poole are objectives that the introduction of a stabilized currency will not guarantee, but in the life of the intelligent wage-earner, the means of attaining these objectives

UNEMPLOYMENT FACTORS

The casual factors of unemployment, said Mr. Poole, would consist essentially of such factors as seasonal movements, cyclical fluctuations and structural changes.

Speaking of seasonal unemployment, Mr. Poole stated that seasonal fluctuations in the weather furnished one important cause of unemployment. In the United States and Canada, said the speaker, seasonal influences loomed as a very large cause of unemployment.

A second cause of unemployment said Mr. Poole, was the business

It could not, stated the speaker, be forecast readily, it came unexpectedly and found the worker unprepared. In addition to this, said Mr. Poole, its duration was uncertain.

In discussing the question, "Can displaced labor be resolved into industry?" the speaker stated that there was no reason at all why displaced labor should remain per-

DEPENDENT ON POLICIES

"Under modern conditions, in which trade unions and unemployment insurance make wage reductions difficult, it is quite possible that the displaced labor cannot be re-employed," said Mr. Poole. "It may or may not be reabsorbed, depending upon what wage and credit policies are pursued."

In conclusion Mr. Poole stated that the world was now in the grip of mighty forces and just what the future held was a matter which was largely problematical. "The

"One needs only to point to minimum-wage boards, courts of arbitration, factory acts, hour legislation, social insurance measures, trade unions and so forth to realize that more and more we live in an organized world," said Mr. Pooler. "Unregulated capitalism is being superseded by a regulated, organized and controlled world."

These clauses were discussed and recommended for adoption at the Washington conference at which all the world powers were represented. Mr. Mackie stated. When a member of the house of commons he had moved adoption of the various clauses, but no action was taken on the grounds that such a measure was unconstitutional.

"What we need is assurance of employment rather than insurance for unemployment," he declared.

Continuing, the speaker said that in 1930 Mr. Bennett had promised he would permit no exploitation of the consumer nor of the natural resources. And yet huge profits had been made in 1931, the lowest year in the depression, and were continuing to be made by eastern industrialism through the protection offered them by the prime minister.
